Memphis Theater.

Annie Pixley, who has been playing at the theater during the week, appeared at the matinee yesterday in "The Deacon's Daughter," and in "22, Second Floor," last night, which closed the engagement of the company. Miss Pixley is a popular soprano actress, successful, handsome and talented. She makes people comparatively happy, makes them laugh and appeals to their sympathies. She sings, acts and dances well and pleases everybody. Her engagement has been quite successful, financially and otherwise. The company leaves this morning for Kansas City.

"A Cold Day."

The "Cold Day" Company of comedians will appear at the theater next Tuesday night in an engagement of two nights and a Wednesday matinee. The cast of characters is as follows:

Jacob Blow ..... John Lessenger
Abe Ebert ..... P. D. Fisher
Captain Kidd ..... Chas. Baughman
William Quartet ..... Albert Grimes
Tucker ..... Eddie Morris

It includes dialect and character acting, pantomime and everything and anything that will cause the smile to come or the laugh to sound. With them is Carlotta, who dances and sings and makes merry and helps to carry on the fun. The rest of the company is a good one, and will be well enough, and they are all useful in making up the comic pictures or in singing the lively songs that are scattered all through the piece.

Boston Ideas.
